Purpose

The award is intended to support exceptional Libin Cardiovascular Institute trainees, students and post doctorates.

Eligibility

Applicants must be currently enrolled in a Libin Institute training program, in the process of obtaining their post doctorate related to cardiac research or be a student in a Libin Institute member's research lab. The student is required to be mentored by a primary member of the Libin Institute.

Administration

Use of the award / funds will be administered by an Advisory Committee comprised of the Director, Research Director and Education Council Chair of the Libin Institute. Decisions will be made based on a number of criteria including nominations, and proposed presence at the Cardiovascular Congress (i.e. presentation, abstract, etc).

Process

To be awarded annually in September of each calendar year. A call for application will be initiated by the Institute Director in July of each year. Complete applications are to include a current CV, along with a short prospectus including reason for proposed attendance.

Priority will be given based to trainees who are presenting an abstract at the meeting and the quality of the CV. Those who have received "Have a Heart Bursary" will not be eligible.

Award

The award will include a full Delegate Registration to the Canadian Cardiovascular Congress along with a $500 cash award for travel expenses.
